East Forty Receives Radish Seeds, Whereas West Is Still Manly

By RODNEY RASMUSSIN

● DANG IF IT AIN'T HAPPENED! Following very closely on but not nudging unduly the heels of meat rationing, the University announced yesterday that the vast acreage of the rolling green of the George Washington campus will be converted immediately into one gigantic victory garden.

On the surface it may appear that the decision to farm the alma mater's backyard was the result of unanimous patriotic fervor and sincere recognition of the exigencies of total war.

One group had maintained that the University with its fertile valleys and rich black loam should be converted to production of wheat. As Senator Orlando Smathers mook, a spokesman for this faction expressed it, "Wheat, Wheat, Wheat!"

The strong factions held that this approach was a fatal mistake. They proposed that the campus be made into a haven for shipwrecked jeeps. Roger Lamingitis, clever commentator for the Automotive Revitalization Board and a proponent of the latter thesis, summed up his objections to the Smathersmook-Loam-Wheat crowd as follows:

"That so-called rich black loam of which the moronic opposition rants is the product of near-sightedness. Frankly, my boys have looked it over and find it to be pure muddy gravel. The rolling valleys are an astigmatic version of the 21st and G Street gutters. I'm supporting and my boys right on down the line are for—a jeep station."

The East Forty Steps Out

So that's how it stood as of Sunday night. Monday, the Boss stated that the farming would be done thusly: The east forty (feet) will be devoted to vigilant and vigorous application of the latest scientific methods of radish production.

The west forty (that includes the area—now lying fallow—between the Hall of Government and the Faculty Club) has been selected for spinacia oleracea. It is claimed that the sandy texture of the soil is well suited to this crap. (Sorry, that's crop).

The north and south forties, which have been combined and are known as the north and south eighty, will be given over exclusively to the production of salads. In line with this policy the former Rose Growing Institute will be converted to a Board of Salad Fanciers, although many of the former members wished to be members of a Smorgas Board.

Sow, Sow—Forever gone.

At any rate the "back to nature" tendencies of all concerned seem to have manifested themselves in a real and wholesome contribution to the War Effort and everybody but the former afterdark inhabitants of the campus is satisfied. Radishes, spinach and salad have replaced the oats which have been sowed for many years and the night watchman above everybody else is delighted.

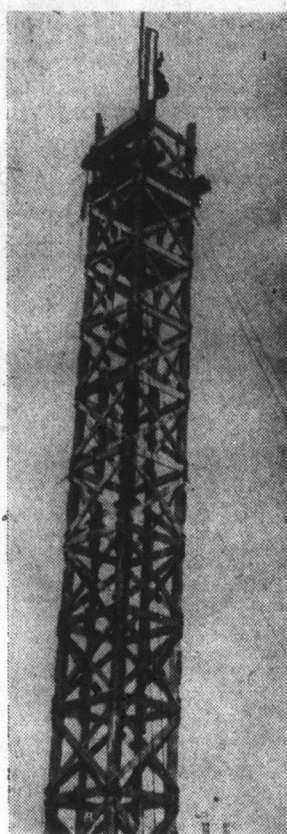

The night watchman, Salvatore O'Higgins, was recently heard to say, "All I'll have to watch out for now are stray rabbits who want to cut in on the radishes and let me tell you, brother, that's a dang sight better than the wolves I have been puttin' up with."

CHROLLOROMETER

Here It Is! The Invention That Rocked

Chrollorometer
Makes Appearance
With Much Gusto

● THIS SIGNIFICANT (we refer to the imposing skyscraper which appears directly above) structure is a calibrated chrollorometer of the Yangtze-Malrovian type which is being shipped to the University direct from the research laboratories at Dover, Delaware.

The remarkable feature of the mechanism is the amazing amount of electric power that it is capable of generating. It is designed to separate and identify the various protons, electrons and other small jobs which are basic forms of matter. The method of identification is simple after the separation of the electrons and protons has taken place. The chrollorometer says: "What's your name Bud?" to which the electrons or whatever happens to be isolated must come out flatfootedly with "Ike" or "Rufus" or such.

Ambrization Necessary

After identification the chrollorometer is useful in a variety of ways. For one thing it is necessary that the complete ambrization of the marsupial megalogicals be acquired before scientists are able to complete the radial ilentrophy.

In some cases however (and these are indeed quite rare) the ambrization can be supplanted by a ferrogical vibration and it is here that the chrollorometer comes through very handily because it is fitted with what has been recently termed a "boge" which makes it possible for the radial ilentrophy to be determined in a few minutes.

Black Talks

Of course students at the University will not be permitted to make use of the chrollorometer until they have passed exams which will indicate whether they are well enough advanced in Physics to be allowed to fuddle with so expensive a gadget.

According to Prof. Theodore Bingham Black, the chrollorometer will be of inestimable value to the Physics Department. "I can't express in words the great pleasure with which I accept this new machine," said the Professor expressing in words his great pleasure. "It will mean an entirely different curriculum. Gosh I'm excited!"

Serious observers who are usually pretty much on the ball have observed (as is their custom) that the calibrated chrollorometer looks more like a watch tower than a momentous advance in the field of Physics and sure as shooting it was announced yesterday that it would be used in the former capacity until the wires connecting the libratil ilivitous and the skidge can be delivered.

S. Council In Drive 1<sup>ce</sup> More

Hitting on Every
Cylinder, the Boys
Whoop It Up Again

● COUNTER-ESPIONAGE and sabotage is the theme of the latest drive to be sponsored by the Student Council. At the regular meeting of the Council held last Friday, President Aaron Layne proposed that the governing body undertake a concerted program to collect, salvage and junk old stories told by members of the faculty year after year to helpless and unwarned students.

Purpose of the collection would be to supply the vast body of dubious humor and outworn tales to the enemy populations in order to further demoralize them. The theory is that those subjected to such matter would lose their appetites and their already aggravated problems of nutrition will be made worse.

Since this drive is to be classified as an essential war activity, it will come under the direct supervision of the Activities Director and the Activities Council and will fit into the proposed War Service Program. All students, affiliated with organizations or not, are expected to cooperate in the drive.

The refuse collected will be placed in the Student Club for exhibition until such time as it can be transported overseas. Special containers will be provided such as a crib for the corn and garbage can for foul smelling matter.

Prizes will be awarded for the best effort of organizations and individuals. One member of the Council suggested that the prize consist of a lifetime membership in the Student Club. This was vetoed, however, by the group when it was pointed out that such would mean a fate worse than death. Lifetime membership on the Student Council for the diligent soul was likewise rejected because of the prevalence of contagious boredom. In desperation, the Council approved as the prize a lifetime pass to all convocations.

Usually reliable sources predicted that this latest collection will probably be successful to the point where members of the faculty will be so depleted of their stock in trade that at least 20 years would be required to build up a comparable collection. Other usually loquacious commentators were too flabbergasted to say more than: "Damn good idea!"

Double cream and sugar, please!

Canis Lupus— Git Yore Hide Fum Dat Door

● LONG YEARS of conjecture, debate and search were brought to an end last night with the official announcement by John Busick, head of the Physical Education Department and Director of the Press Bureau, that the sons and daughters of the Buff 'n' Blue will now have an official mascot in the form of a full-blooded, pedigreed representative of the species Canis Lupus, otherwise known as wolf.

The mascot has been named John Alden, after the famous, though some still insist infamous, character of history and literature who in colonial times did his best friend dirt by stealing said best friend's girl and engaging her in wedlock.

J. ALDEN

Quarters for the newly selected symbol of the University have been set tentatively at either the Hatchet office or the Student Council office. Both of these establishments have been known this year to keep other members of the species near their respective entrances.

According to the official announcement, "The wolf, long known for its tenacity, resourcefulness, and rapaciousness will set a fitting example for conduct and inspiration to the entire student body, many members of which have long exhibited the qualities of character typified by the mascot."

HAIR RAID—Civilian defense runs riot as Malvern Richards, Malvern Richards, and Malvern Raymond apply themselves to a short shot of first aid, or is it third degree? The lads are wardens at night but when Phoebus 'gins arise (should we explain it? Well, maybe not. As a matter of fact, we won't) they engage in esthetic preoccupations as pictured above.

Bassin Has'n Rationed Passin' Bacon or We Is Mistaken

By PIERRE (of the Ritz)

● THE DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS announced last night that Morris Bassin, world-famed authority on food and nutrition, has just been made a member of the University faculty, where he will serve as adjunct and consulting professor of Interior Decoration for the middle regions.

Director Dutton informed our correspondent that General Hershey had personally exempted Bassin from military service, declaring that, "It has been said that an army travels on its stomach, and since ours has a long way to go, we must keep Bassin out of it."

When informed of the appointment, Bassin expressed little surprise, declaring that he had long admired the University and its students, and longed to enter its sacred portals. "From my vantage point," he said, "I have seen future generations come and go, walking slowly, carefully, as if they were uncertain of the paths their feet might trod. When I become a member of the faculty, I'll change all that. Students will float to class."

"Garvin and I are in complete accord on all matters concerning nutrition and winning the war," Bassin added, "only he likes pie, which is definitely not good for the stomach. But I think I can work him around to my way of thinking."

"However, that is a petty detail, and in this hour of crisis, nay, crises, not worth bothering with. Our one aim must be winning the war. We must starve out the Japs, and keep from starving ourselves. At the moment, it looks like the Japs are ahead. But I'll change all that."

"A serious food shortage is facing this country. Why, at my joint—I beg your pardon—at my palacious place of eating—there is a scarcity even of necessities like hamburgers. You can't imagine the hurt and hungry look which creeps over my customers' faces when I tell them there are no hamburgers. It breaks my heart to hurt their feelings—and words—like that are a slap in the face."

Bassin paused to wipe away a quiet tear, but bucked up bravely to add, "But I'll change all that."

"I have only one comment to make in closing," Bassin concluded. "I always had a sneaking suspicion that everybody connected with the University was crazy. Now my fears are at rest. They are. But," he shouted jubilantly, "I'll change all that."

Auditorium Again Hits Its 'Life'

Moans, Laments
Delirium Tremens
Oh, My Heavens

By
Rommel von Quisling

You made me what I am today
I hope you're satisfied
You dragged me down and down
and down
Until the soul within me died,
● Time was a bitterly cold, wet, 3 a.m.

Place was 21st and H Streets. And the speaker was the poor little rich girl of George Washington, the beautiful young millionairess Lisner Auditorium.

Naturally no one but a Tomahawk reporter would be crazy enough to be at that kind of a place at that time on that kind of a night, and so there he was: he and the millionaires alone together.

"What in the name of all the saints and the Holy Book of the Dead is the matter with you?" the Tomahawk reporter asked. "You have the most sickening case of self pity I ever saw. Here you are, rich, talented, beautiful, and you stand there wailing. What's the matter, anyway?"

"I'm so terribly lonely," replied the millionairess. "I just haven't got a friend in the world. I want to have lots of happy students running in and out and enjoying my wonderful facilities, and here I am, rich, beautiful, and friendless."

"Maybe you didn't get your questionnaire in to the Student Council on time and have been denied the recognition of the school," the reporter suggested.

"Perhaps," said the Auditorium. "But my Daddy doesn't seem to want me to play with anyone. Even that wretched, dark little third rate excuse of a bad high school gymnasium in the next block has more friends than I."

"But you had a very nice opening convocation," the reporter protested.

"Well, the convocation was nice," the Auditorium admitted. "But what I want are student activities."

"I want variety shows, and rallies, and plays and graduations and all the other things that go toward making a well-rounded college life."

"Well," said the reporter, "you may have a point there, but you really can't expect anyone to feel very sorry for you."

"Please don't be harsh with me," said the Auditorium. "Remember I'm more to be pitied than censured."

Whatever the depth of my fall, Remember that in the beginning, That man was the cause of it all."

Drama Club Picks Play Lead Roles

Heart of City Star Parts Go To McNeese, Ziff

• SUE MCNEESE and Toni Ziff have been assigned the leading parts in the Cue 'n' Curtain production, "Heart of the City," by Lesley Storm, scheduled for opening shortly before Easter.

"Heart of the City" deals with bombings in London after the fall of France in 1940. It had a short run on Broadway, and has since been completely rewritten. The story concerns performers in a burlesque house in downtown London which suffers from the bombings but continues to carry on.

Miss McNeese will play the part of Judy, whose love affair reaches a tragic climax in the end of the play. Toni Ziff has been assigned the role of Toni in the play.

Kathleen Goodwin will handle the job of portraying Valerie, and Zella Diamond will portray Bubbles. Other parts cast include: Rosalind, played by Ann Evans; Joan, by Mary Riello; Patsy, by Angela MacDougal; Lila Saddle, by Marie Stjoseh; Girt, by Virginia Lee Reamers; Mrs. Jood, by Harriet Hulsh; Anna, by Elizabeth Rogers; Daisy, by Joan Crowther, and Tommy, by Bob Mead.

Both Miss McNeese and Ann Evans, who will play Rosalind, had parts in "The Land is Bright," which was produced in April of last year, and proved to be an outstanding success.

Two male roles remain to be assigned, and will be announced in the next issue of The Hatchet.

Tony Prichard also said that Cue 'n' Curtain had been invited to submit an application for membership in Alpha Psi Omega, the largest dramatics honorary society for colleges in America. The invitation is offered on the basis of outstanding merit and tangible proof that the individuals have given faithful service in acting or backstage work. No person can be admitted who has not had experience in all phases of dramatic work.

Greek Battles Will Continue, Xydis States

• THE GREEK people are fighting and will go on fighting, despite the tremendous toll in "blood, sweat and tears," Stephen Xydis, Greek Office of War Information official, told members of the Hellenic Society of the University last Friday night.

The visitor, presented by Miss Nina Pappas, president of the organization, spoke in commemoration of Greek Independence Day. Extolling the men, women and children of Greece for their courage and sacrifice, the speaker assured his audience all would go on working for the day of final victory.

"Many are in the deserts of North Africa and in the Middle East; others serve aboard the ships of the still-powerful Greek Navy. Still others fall in merchant ships, facing the omnipresent danger of sinking by mines. All are inspired by the hope to see the day of their return."

At the conclusion of the speech, Anthony Chanaka, Washington College of Music pianist, played several selections.

Religious Clubs Donate $500 to Library Drive

• THE OPENING of Religious Book Week on March 28 has been made auspicious by the gift of $500 from members of the groups in The University Religious Council to purchase religious books for the University Library.

At the same time it will honor Professor Emeritus William Allen Wilbur, who for 48 years has been an outstanding influence in the religious life and in the development of the University.

Religious Book Week will be observed by the University Library with an exhibit of theological books and a Religious Book List of Jewish, Catholic, Protestant and Good Will books, published by the National Conference of Christians and Jews in New York. A copy of the book list is available for consultation at the Library Circulation Desk.

The exhibit will end Saturday.

ISS Meets Friday

• THE INTERNATIONAL Students' Society will hold a party at International House, 2121 G Street, N.W., Friday evening at 8:15 p.m. Foreign students not yet members of the organization are invited to attend the party.

Activities Discuss War Plans Tomorrow

Student Council Repeals Politics Ban

Spring Election Battles Approach Under New Plan

• WITH THE ban on politics repealed, political parties will shake off the dust of two years' accumulation to bring back the traditional ballyhoo to Student Council spring elections.

Whether the old Service, Reform or Independent parties will be revived or new Victory groups formulated is still a matter of conjecture, but the legality of such coalitions was definitely assured when the Student Council revised its constitution at a meeting Friday.

Last year's experiment with non-political elections resulted in an electorate less than half as large as that of former years. Students generally felt that the election had been no more than "apparently" clean.

A compromise political system will be enforced this spring. The days of free lollipops and bluebooks are over as candidates find themselves limited to campaign publicity furnished by the Hatchet. Student Council officers to be elected May 5, 6, and 7 include: President, social chairman, publicity director, program director, activities director, comptroller, advocate, and freshman director.

The runner-up in the balloting for president will receive the post of vice-president.

Ellis Hall, Student Council Advocate, said that the body had moved back to political elections because this insured a better choice of candidates.

The Elections Committee, headed by Advocate Hall, will be composed of two members selected from the student body in general and two others chosen through the Student Government Service.

Representatives from the Religious Council will be added to this year's Committee on Qualifications of Candidates, while members of Engineering Council and the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils were deleted from the Committee under the revised Council constitution.

The revised constitution and election rules have yet to receive final approval by the Student Life Committee. The constitution and rules follow:

Home Ec Club Lists Speaker For Next Week

• THE HOME ECONOMICS Club of the University has scheduled a buffet supper for April 9th at which time Mrs. Peters, a Grey Lady, will speak of her experiences in World War I. Caroline Hedler, president of the organization, announced recently.

Mrs. Peters, who is at present doing Red Cross work at the University Hospital, spends much of her time trying to cheer convalescent soldiers. As a Grey Lady during the last war, she wrote letters, held hands and did everything possible to comfort wounded men.

Elections for the club, which recently got into full swing for the semester, were held a short while ago. Caroline Hedler, formerly secretary of the organization, became president, while Mary Louise Vilet, stepping into her shoes, became secretary. Vice-president is Anne Slinger. The club meets twice each month, has tentatively scheduled a picnic for May 14th.

'Government-Girl' Career Meets Disfavor of Coeds

By EILEEN SHANAHAN

• WOMEN STUDENTS in the University seem to feel that working in government jobs while still in school or after graduation is an inevitability—but they don't like the idea.

At least, so run the thoughts of those who have consulted the Women's Advisory Council for War Training, members of the group have concluded. The Council maintains weekly office hours in the Junior College rooms, Monday and Wednesday from 12-1 and Tuesday and Thursday from 5-6.

Formed to disseminate information concerning the need for trained women in war positions, the coed group has obtained most of its data regarding available jobs from the Civil Service Commission, and has found that most of the queries it has received have come from those desiring government jobs.

But many of the women making inquiries state that they would rather not work for Uncle Sam.

"Unfortunately, we ourselves haven't been able to find much regarding positions in private industry," stated Alice Newcomer, chairman of the Council, "for the U. S. Employment Service, which is supposed to have such material, is not organized to give out general information, but seems only to deal with filling specific jobs. Students might profit from individual contact with this office, however."

For those nevertheless resolved (or resigned) to take a government job, the Council is ready with information as to how they may make best use of the education and training they have. The Council receives notices of all Civil Service openings, examinations.

SLC Recognition Deadline April 5

• ALL STUDENT organizations who failed to comply with the Student Council information requests of Dec. 15, 1942, and Jan. 9, 1943, will lose official University recognition on April 5, Chairman B. H. Jarman of the Student Life Committee announced Saturday.

Withdrawal of recognition includes loss of the name and finances of the George Washington University, as well as its postal and building facilities.

Two organizations announced as blacklisted in the Hatchet three weeks ago have complied with the order, and will continue in their present status. They are Artus, honorary economics organization, and Pi Lambda Theta, honorary society for students of education.

Play Deadline For Treasury Set Thursday

• WITH THURSDAY set as the final deadline, only two entries have thus far been submitted in the Treasury Department's nation-wide play writing contest.

University drama head, Floyd L. Sparks, has once again stated that the deadline of April 1st is "final" in all cases.

The contest, sponsored by the War Savings Staff of the Treasury Department, is for the purpose of making students take a more active interest in the promotion and participation in the War Savings program.

Scripts are to be of the one-act play type and should require between 10 and 30 minutes of playing time. The winning script for the University will be chosen by Director Sparks and then forwarded to the Treasury. Results will be announced on May 15.

The subject matter of the scripts is War Savings; however, they should have the emotional and dramatic elements of a play and must contain underlying and subtle motivating references making for greater participation in the war effort, with a particular drive for investments in War Bonds.

The University may play one or more of the scripts depending on quality of entries.

Plays should be typewritten with name and address of the author on each page. All scripts will become property of the Treasury Department and will not be returned.

Mrs. J. Hathcock Talks to Greeks On War Activity

• "COLLEGE WOMEN and the War" was the subject of a talk given last night by Mrs. James S. Hathcock to sorority women on campus.

The weekly chapter meetings of the sororities were moved up to 9 o'clock in order to permit all active and pledges to attend the talk. Mrs. Hathcock, a graduate of Cornell University, is now working at a war job in the department of terrestrial magnetism of the Carnegie Institute.

In addition to being president of the District of Columbia Panhellenic Association, Mrs. Hathcock is secretary of the graduate chapter of Mortar Board.

Nell B. Buckley, Panhellenic advisor; Vinnie G. Barrows, director of personnel guidance, and Dr. Katherine Adams, assistant dean of the Junior College, attended the meeting.

Study Room Made Of Library Lounge

• A STUDENT conference room has been established in Room 100 of the University Library, in place of the former student lounge, on the recommendation of the Librarian, John Russell Mason, the Library Committee, and many members of the instructional staff.

The room is furnished with regular tables and chairs and is provided as a place where students already studying in the library reading rooms may go for brief periods to study and confer together in order not to disturb other readers in the reading rooms. Smoking will be permitted.

Campus Leaders Plan Competition In War Activity

• PRELIMINARY plans for a Victory Service Drive which would institute a competition between campus organizations based on the amount of war activity each engages in were approved by the Student Council Friday.

Details will be worked out by members of the Activities Council at a meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Columbian House, first floor. The Council, headed by Activities Director Palmer Smith, will include heads of major organizations such as Pan Hellenic and Interfraternity Councils, Omicron Delta Kappa, Strong Hall Council, and the Councils of the Engineering, Law and Medical Schools.

The drive was proposed in an effort to coordinate in a single program all war work engaged in by recognized University organizations and to prevent duplication of this work. Greater participation in war work was seen as an inevitable result of the drive.

Points will be given to students and to organizations which they represent for each hour of war activity and at the end of the semester or the summer sessions, awards will be given to those with the best records.

Some of the service which would be considered war activity are: scrapbooks for hospitalized troops, collection of watches, clothes or soap for Russia, blood donations, Red Cross work, performances in Army camps by Cue 'n' Curtain, Victory gardening at the University, scrap collection and parties for servicemen.

Directors for yearly terms are yet to be appointed. The Activities Council will be asked to formulate a workable system by which points will be awarded for war activity, Director Smith said.

Various problems of the drive which the Council will be asked to consider include methods to arouse student interest and cooperation, the overlapping membership of individuals in various campus organizations, the appointment of qualified directors, the need to differentiate between groups with large membership and those with few members in awarding honors, and a method of computing service like blood donations which cannot be rated on an hourly basis.

Blossom Drive Opening Set For Next Week

• THE OPENING of the annual Cherry Blossom Drive has been set for April 12, according to the announcement of Margery Gessford, director.

Vying with the real blossoms which are expected to be in full bloom at the Tidal Basin will be the miniature artificial blossoms sold by pretty co-eds from all the sororities on campus. The Panhellenic Council and Colonial Campus Club will also participate.

Each group has been set a quota of 200 flowers to sell at 10c each and it is hoped that between $300 and $400 will be raised for the benefit of the scholarship fund which is later distributed among qualified students in the School of Foreign Service.

The campaign will last only 4 days this year and the winner selling the most blossoms will be announced at the Pan-Hellenic dance on April 15 and presented with a silver loving cup. Last year Delta Zeta was awarded the prize.

Seven University Graduates Awarded Service Promotions

• DR. AARON G. SAIDMAN, a graduate of the university medical school, is one of seven alumni to win promotion of the military services recently. Saidman, who has been on foreign duty in the Pacific since July, has been elevated to the rank of lieutenant in the Naval Reserve.

Aviation Cadet Donald C. Tolson was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Forces at Turner Field, Albany, Georgia. It is here that Aviation Cadets are sent for their final phase of training before receiving their wings and commissions as second lieutenants.

Ernest William Zimmerman recently graduated from the Seacoast Artillery Officer Candidate School and was commissioned a second lieutenant.

Press Bureau 'Ace' Leaves For Army Life

• CHARLES EARL Wallace, former student and member of the Hatchet board of editors, leaves the University tomorrow to enter the Army in three weeks.

A familiar figure on the campus for the past six years, Wallace has been a member of the University's Press Bureau for the past two and one-half years and acted as a publicity writer and press relations officer since September, 1940. He resigned from the Works Progress Administration to become assistant to John R. Busick, Director of the Press Bureau.

Wallace divided his time between general University news and sports and worked as a press liaison man. He wrote special articles for the Alumni Review and assisted in the special publications work carried on by the Press Bureau.

Since Busick became Director of Athletics last August, Wallace has supervised the Press Bureau. Busick will resume the direction of the press office this week and for a time, at least, will administer both athletic and publicity departments. Wallace, a native of Knoxville, Tenn., is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha and Omicron Delta Kappa. He was a member of the Hatchet staff for three years, serving as associate editor and columnist in 1938 and '39. He edited the University calendar in 1940.

Acacia Observes Twentieth Year On GW Campus

• ACACIA FRATERNITY will celebrate its twentieth anniversary on campus Friday with an informal dance from 9 'til 12:30 at the house.

Dean Elmer Louis Kayser, Marshall of the University, will speak during intermission.

The Student Council moved the date of its Buff 'n' Blue to April 9 to allow Acacia this celebration.

Aubrey Burgess, social chairman of the fraternity, announced that the student body is invited to attend.

Al Massey's orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. The University Chapter of Acacia was installed at the University on April 2, 1923.

ating as a second lieutenant bombardier at Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, N. Mex., has been assigned to the Army Air Forces Navigation School, Hondo, Texas, for training as a navigator.

John F. Ligon, Jr., Aviation Cadet, is now stationed here at the Army Air Forces Classification Center. He was a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity.

Captain Carl A. Baumann, MAC, Medical Warehouse Officer at the New Cumberland, Pa., was recently promoted to major. He received his law degree from the university in 1928. Prior to being called for active duty in March, 1941, Major Baumann was with the Office of Chief Counsel, Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Janet Brooks, local WAVE, has been commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve and will report to active duty.

Civilians, Enlistees Eligible

Dr. Thelma Hunt And Dean Johnstone Will Supervise

• AN ARMY and Navy test to select men for college training programs and eventual commissions will be given here at 9 a.m. Friday in Government-2 under the direction of Dean William C. Johnstone, Armed Services Representative, and Dr. Thelma Hunt of the Psychology Department.

Civilians, enlisted men, and high school seniors may take the test if they are not over the 22 age limit set for the Army program or the 20 year limit set for the Navy plan. Dean Johnstone advised that Army Reservists may also take the examination.

Students enrolled under the Navy and Marine reserve programs are not eligible. A special test will be given at the University on April 20 for those Navy and Marine reservists who will have completed four or more semesters of college work by June.

Men interested in taking the Army-Navy test must file application with Dean Johnstone in C-102 no later than 6 p.m. Thursday. The dean warned that all high school students or recent graduates will have to take the test on Friday, since there will be no further tests for some months.

The tests will be used to aid in the selection of prospective officer material for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. The examinations are designed to discover the aptitude and general knowledge of the candidates. Applicants will express a choice for the Army or Navy at the time of the examination.

Those who are selected for either the Army Specialized Training Program or the Navy College Training Program V-12 will be sent to college with all expenses paid by the services. Under the Army plan, men must successfully complete 13 weeks of basic training before going on to college. In the Navy program, they will be sent directly to college in July.

Both services will pay tuition, food, housing, book and uniform costs for their students. Strict military discipline will be maintained during the college course, and the men will be required to wear the uniform of their particular branch of service.

Students attending colleges under the Army program will be organized under a cadet system and will be expected to maintain standards of academic proficiency to be announced at a later date. Courses will be selected by the Army and the length of the training period will depend upon the nature of the courses.

To cover the transition from the present Army Enlisted Reserve program to the new Army Specialized Training in assigned colleges, officials announced that reservists who are medical or pre-medical students will not be called to active duty before the end of the next semester. Qualified students will then be sent on to colleges under the new plan. The same privilege will be granted to third-year students in the Army Reserves who are taking approved technical engineering courses.

All other Army Enlisted Reserve Corps students will be called to active duty at the end of the current semester and be considered for further college work upon completion of basic training.

Students accepted in the Navy V-12 College Training Plan will receive an apprentice seaman's salary of $50 a month while attending school. Their college training will consist of four terms of college work of 16 weeks duration each.

Men who qualify for Navy training by taking the test Friday will be assigned to one of two groups, the first reporting to approved colleges and universities about July 1 and the second reporting about November 1.

Applicants for the Army-Navy tests must be citizens and must have a minimum visual acuity of 18/20 in each eye. They must be unmarried and agree to remain unmarried until commissioned.

Dean Johnstone has asked that men bring two soft lead pencils to the examination and that they arrive early, since no one will be admitted after 9 a.m.

Hoopaw Reveals Buff 'n Blue Nite

• APRIL 9 IS the date for the next Buff 'n' Blue. The Cavaliers will furnish music and the usual time, 9 to 12, price $1.10 or Co-op Book, and place, Student Club will prevail.

Varsity House Forms Nucleus of Softball League

Many Spots Still Open On Squad

Sport Is Backed By Athletic Dept., Replaces Baseball

• EVEN THOUGH the University will not put a varsity baseball team on the diamonds of the District, a first cousin of the game will be played. Instead of intercollegiate ball the Athletic Department shall sponsor an intramural softball league.

At a meeting on Sunday the Varsity house occupants met and selected their captains and players and coaches. The captains were picked by Australian secret ballot and afterwards the captains-elect picked their teams and coaches.

Varsity House Helps

Varsity House once again will be the cornerstone of an athletic program when they start practice Friday with teams under the leadership of Enrico Seeno, Jack Fitzgerald, Ted Reichwein and Jim Rausch. Each team is under the coaching of "Baldy" Lentz, "Zuzu" Stewart, Johnny Baker and "Scoop" Busick.

Participation in the league is open to all University students. Those desiring to play should contact either a team captain or coach, or gather together a crew of their own and register in the Intramural or Athletic office. Each team will be allowed 15 players and a coach. The Varsity house teams already have nine players on each team and would like to invite the entire University to contribute the remaining six players for each of the four teams.

Entries Not Complete

Busick emphasized to all softball players that the four Varsity House entries are not the complete league, but merely a nucleus of what can develop into one of the finest intramural leagues planned in the past years.

This league and its players must take the place of the University's usual intercollegiate baseball team; not only giving students exercise and entertainment but publicity and prestige in the District. Announcement that baseball would be discontinued was made last week.

The idea of an organized softball league to take the place of varsity competition is an innovation here at the University and is in line with the recent emphasis on participating rather than spectator sports.

Present Entrants

Players that have already enrolled for the league play are: Seeno, Koniszewski, Hall, Bubano, Vleck, Heinbaugh, McNeal, Jackson, Tellich, August and Busick on team one; Rausch, Riess, Gustafson, Selbert, Graham, Keitt, Grootzinger and Baker playing for team 2.

Fitzgerald, Pollock, Romasco, Gallagher, McNary, Dodd, Hapanowicz, Chew, Kreisberg, Hlanoski, and Lentz for team 3. The final entry is composed of Sokol, Contintelli, Paldokovich, Weber, Czekaj, Cantwell, Basilone, Cavanaugh, Phillips and Stewart.

Figures Prove TDX, Teke Bowlers Best

• DURING the full before the storm, when Theta Delta Chi rolls against Tau Kappa Epsilon for the Interfraternity Bowling Championship next week, Theta Delta Les Ozier has collected the complete resume of results for the entire schedule and prints them.

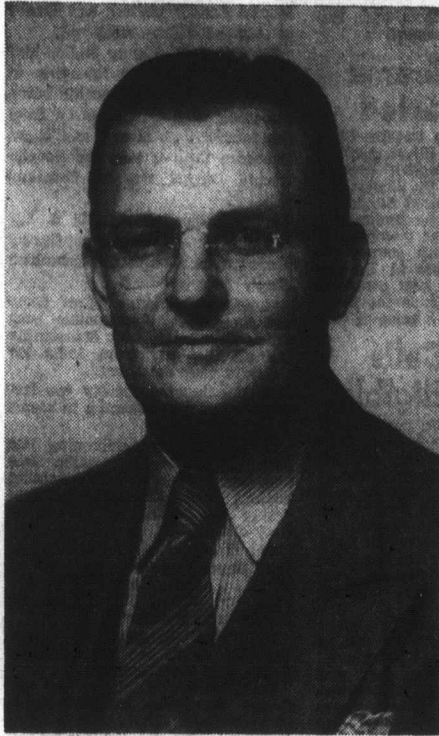

Theta Delta Chi, as expected, took most of the honors, with Tau Kappa Epsilon, "B" league champions, taking second. Phi Sigma Kappa took the only remaining honor, that of high team set.

The TDX team rolled a total of 7619 pins for an all-time University record, and at the same time the Phi Sigs also broke the record by rolling 7288. TKE of "B" league rolled 5943 for that league's highest total, with Acadia second with 5870 pins knocked down.

High team set went to the Phi Sigs with a 1560 set and high team game honors went to Tau Kappa Epsilon. The Tekes rolled 563 to take the title away from the TDX's bowlers, who had 556 pins to their credit. TDX also took the high team game average with an amazing average of 508.

In the last stages of the schedule Hudnall of TDX scored 144 to take the individual title from Deeter, who rolled 137. It was Deeter of TKE who last year in the final game rolled 167 to near the school record now held by TDX Bill Van Meter, with a very fine 195. Klasse of TKE and Ozier of TDX were third and fourth highest with 136 and 135, respectively.

Hatchet Sports

DIRECTORS BOTH—Two of the men who are doing much to provide the University with a full Spring sports program are pictured above. The man on the left is big, straight-talking Bill Myers, Director of Required Physical Education for Men who this week issued a call for Varsity golf candidates. Next to him is John Busick, Athletic Director, who has placed himself and the Athletic Department solidly behind an Intramural Softball program designed to replace baseball. He was named Coach of one of the four teams the Varsity House plans entering in the tourney. The decision to discontinue the National Sport was made after Maryland declined to field a team and other obstacles were considered insurmountable.

Riflers Change Shooting Time; Drexel Wins

• RESULTS RECEIVED from Drexel Institute of Technology last week showed that the Colonial sharpshooters dropped their first match of the season, with Drexel's girls shooting a very good 494 out of 500 to the local's 485.

In three other intercollegiate telegraphic matches, Coach Helen Taylor's shooters registered counts of 487 against the University of Michigan; 465 against Penn State, and the same total when engaging Northwestern University. Targets have not yet been received from these schools.

At the present time all of the girls are trying to qualify for medals awarded by the National Rifle Association for excellence in marksmanship. Several of them, according to Barbara Simmons, have turned in targets far above the minimum required.

Miss Simmons, captain of the varsity, also announced some changes in rifle practice hours. Classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays which formerly began at noon have been moved back to 11 a.m., but the Wednesday and Friday classes will continue to meet at noon. Practice is possible on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, with the exact hours determined at the morning sessions of the same day and posted on the door.

Freshmen, Sophomore, Junior and Senior Class teams are now being formed, and there is room for more prospective Annie Oakleys. Prospective gunners should see Captain Simmons at the Rifle Range in the basement of Corcoran Hall on Tuesdays and Thursdays during class hours or call her on Wisconsin 5220.

Axmen Defeat Acacians, Take Third

• THE AXMEN, an intramural basketball team sponsored by the University Hatchet, and distinguished by the fact that by the end of the season there wasn't a man from the Hatchet on it, won its last game Tuesday night against the Acadia courtmen by the score of 17-14.

Arnold Flottmann's six points were high for the evening, although he was playing for a losing cause. Dave Dupre sprinkled the hoop for four points and in so doing led his fellow Axmen, but scoring was very evenly divided among all contestants.

In a well-played, close game almost devoid of fouling, in sharp contrast to the usual rough and tumble 'mural affairs. The Axmen led all the way.

Myers, Captain Grootzinger Call for Varsity Golfers

• WILLIAM H. MYERS, the well-known and highly respected director of required physical education, who has given a lot of men at the University the first real physical exercise they have ever received, has issued a call for golf team candidates.

Any bona fide student, regardless of the number of hours he is taking is eligible for the team. Prospective duffers are asked to report to Mr. Myers at the Athletic Office at 716 21st street, N.W.

Indoor practice started yesterday in the Tin Tabernacle, and was under the direction of Myers and Bob Grootzinger, team captain. It is planned and hoped that matches will be arranged with several local and near-by schools, such as Navy, Georgetown, Maryland, Catholic University, Johns Hopkins, Virginia, Western Maryland, as well as others.

Something's New . . . Mixed Badminton, Ping-Pong 'Murals

• A NEW NOTE in intramural sports will be added when Women's and Men's Intramural departments combine to sponsor coed badminton and ping-pong matches. A mixed doubles tournament in the two sports will begin Wednesday, April 7 in the gym at 8 o'clock.

All students—male or female—interested should turn up on the seventh. Pairing and matches will be arranged on that day. Players may choose their own partners or have one assigned.

In the field of Women's Intramural sports, the final championship basketball game between Chi O and the Independents will be played off tomorrow at 4 in the gym.

The finals in women's ping-pong are scheduled for Thursday night at 8. Contestants will meet in the basement of Strong Hall.

Badminton finals were played off Friday between Delta Zeta and the Independents. Independents Rosemary Trone and Jane Stauffer scored an easy victory over Delta Zeta's Felicia Miller and Alice Calkins.

Tau Kappa Epsilon Dares All Comers

• TAU KAPPA Epsilon has stuck its collective neck out and stands a better-than-even chance of getting it cut off literally as well as figuratively in the near future. Headed by flute-playing Charles Fugitt, the Tekes have challenged any and every organization on the campus to a fencing match or matches.

Jay Dodd and Marshall Gardner are his fellow conspirators. All of them feel pretty safe in making the challenge, because they feel that there will be no acceptors. But, as they say in Spain, you never can tell.

Intramural Sport Nite Held Soon

Fencing, Handball Wrestling Among Sports Planned

• PLANS FOR A FULL six weeks of intramural competition were whipped into finished form last week by Intramural Director Art Endres, pointing toward an all-Intramural Sport Nite to be held when the activities of handball, volleyball, badminton, basketball free throw and fencing reach the final stages.

Basketball and ping pong are all set. Theta Delta Chi, Interfraternity champions, will battle the Hurricanes, winners of the Intramural competition, in a game that may be complicated by the fact that several Theta Deltas are also Hurricanes and vice versa. But Endres insists there will be a game even if John Donohue has to double for himself.

Ed Gee, given a mild scare by PIKA Joe Niswonger during the Interfraternity competition, was really set when the two met in the semi-finals of 'mural play and polished off Niswonger to the tune of 21-7, 21-11. Gee will play Bill Mickey, who turned back Ted Hapanowicz to gain his exalted position, winning 21-19, 21-18, in what was regarded by some as a slight upset.

In handball competition Lee Wilfer reached semi-finals by defeating Tom Mandes in a very close match and will play Dick Kessler. Carlos Brin will play in another semi-final spot but his opponent has not been determined as yet.

Entries for wrestling are now being accepted, with the deadline placed at April 2. Entry sheets will be posted in the Gymnasium and prospective grunt and groaners are asked to weigh-in and have their weight checked by some gym instructor before being signed up. Assurance has been given that every one signing up will be matched.

An Intramural Swimming and Diving meet, won last year by Phi Sigma Kappa largely through the efforts of Don Kayhoe, will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday, April 10. Entries will be accepted up until the day before. Events will include 50, 100 and 200 yard free style, the 50-yard back stroke and the 50-yard breaststroke. The fancy diving competition will call for three required dives and one optional.

Still another tournament, fencing, will have its preliminaries on Friday, April 2, at 8:30 p.m., in the Recreation Hall. Once again, entries will be honored until the night before. As usual, fencers are asked to drag along the minimum fencing equipment consisting of sweat shirt, sneakers and gloves. Masks and foils will be furnished if necessary.

Also in the offing is a track meet that promises to be dominated even more completely than usual by the Madiera A. C.—the men from the Varsity House. Time and place will be announced later.

Volleyball Titlists

• THETA DELTA CHI will play Sigma Nu Thursday night at 9 in the Tin Tabernacle to determine the winner of the Fraternity Section of the Intramural Volleyball tournament.

Although TDX and Sigma Nu are in the finals, neither of them has played a single match this year. The perfect record of forfeits in all matches was maintained last week when Sigma Nu received a forfeit from Sigma Chi and the Theta Deltas won from Pi Kappa Alpha by default.

BEFORE I FORGET

By CHARLES DAUGHERTY

• ONE OF THE BY-PRODUCTS of the war has been the large increase in openings for coaching positions now being made available to Physical Education majors. No less than 15 men from this University who have graduated very recently or are still in school are currently employed by local junior and senior high schools to teach physical training.

DAUGHERTY

And that is not all. If you go back only a few years, the total is even more imposing: John Clarey at McKinley Tech., Billy Richardson at Western, Reds Auerbach at Roosevelt, Ralph Zelaski at Hine Junior High—these are the men whose names come to mind. There are many more.

Clarey Teaches at Tech.

Practically guiding the destiny, athletically speaking at least, at Tech High are John Clarey, Frank August, and Dan Snyder. John has done an exceptionally fine job at Tech, turning out a football team that battled Central down to the wire. He underwent a serious eye operation a short time ago to correct a condition arising from an injury, and may have to have another one before he will be in proper shape to pass a physical exam to enter the armed forces.

Myron Vleck is helping Zelaski at Hine. Ellis Hall, whose speech before the last Buff-Hoya football game declining to engage in any "vociferous oratory" because he lacked two front teeth and was inclined to lisp for that reason, is teaching, of all things, mathematics at Jefferson Junior High. Lenny Sokol, basketball and baseball player, is teaching at Taft Junior High and is crazy about it. He has introduced basketball for the first time on a large scale at that institution and has aroused such interest that four courts are kept in constant activity. His phenomenal success is due partly to the fact that Tech High won the Inter-scholastic basketball title this year and consequently the whole neighborhood is hepped-up about the sport.

Koniszewski, Swett at Gordon

Holding down the fort at Gordon Junior High are John Koniszewski, winner of eight varsity letters during his college career and nine during his stay in high school, and Senior Class President Timothy Swett.

Joey Gallagher, as previously reported, is drawing down pay at Central and is putting in some of his Sundays at the Heurich Gymnasium playing with the professional Brewers along with several other ex-Buff highlights.

Art Endres is chief assistant in the Intramural program, while hard-working Enrico Seeno is employed at Jefferson Junior High School. Al Romasco is at Langley; Jack Fitzgerald is at Powell Junior High. Eddie Willamoski works for Paul Junior High and Don Selbert for Hine.

Quite an array, isn't it?

Children Should Face War, Fox Tells Parent-Teachers

“CHILDREN should know what we are fighting for,” Dean Fox told members of the Parent-Teacher Study Group last Thursday in discussing “What to Tell Children About the War.”

Addressing an audience composed of representatives of many local Parent-Teacher Associations, the Dean continued:

“Children should be encouraged to face the problems of the war as realistically as possible. However,” he declared, “they should not be frightened.”

Urging that older boys and girls actively participate in the war effort, he suggested that these youngsters be methodically prepared for the work to be undertaken. As for the very young, “they should look toward the future,” he said.

On the subject of instilling hatred into the hearts of children, the Dean was vehement. He declared, “hatred of peoples should not be taught. After all,” he continued, “we have Germans and Japanese fighting on our side. What we fight,” he asserted, “is an idea, a system of government.”

“We fight the slavery that would result should totalitarianism be imposed,” he said.

No speaker has been designated for the next meeting when “promoting maximum learning growth in children” is to be discussed.
